Post-event report | April 28 to April 29, 2024 | Toronto | virtual medical event | Venue: the ConferAtlas Live virtual platform, produced from our Toronto studio

1. Executive summary

The Toronto Clinical Innovation Congress 2024 welcomed 1,039 attendees out of 1,431 confirmed registrations (1,541 registrations in total), a show-up rate of 73%. Attendees rated the program 3.88 out of 5 on average, for a net promoter score of -6. 8 sponsors took part; 4 of them met their lead target, and sponsors collected 1,809 leads against a combined target of 1,420. The event cost $144,200 against a budget of $149,000 (-3.2%).

2. Audience

The largest attendee groups were Hospital Administrator (196), Nurse (185), Physician (174). Most attendees came from United Kingdom (15%), India (15%), Mexico (15%).

3. Program highlights

The program ran 20 sessions. The highest-rated sessions were Digital Health with Nikhil Ibrahim (rated 4.57, 88 attendees); Clinical Practice with Olivia Brooks (rated 4.44, 167 attendees); Research with Leo Evans (rated 4.33, 117 attendees). The lowest-rated session was Patient Care with Ben Lee (rated 2.50). A highlight of the event: a live product demo theater was added and stayed full all day.

4. Venue and operations

The main operational issue was that the virtual expo hall loaded slowly on mobile devices. In response, the platform vendor shipped a lighter mobile layout before day 2.
